1. Recommendation:

1. That Report LS 13-18 be received for information; and
2. That Council direct the Clerk to bring forward a revised Site Alteration By-law in accordance with the recommendations contained in this report.

2. Highlights:

- This report presents a revised Site Alteration By-law (Attachment 1);
- The current Site Alteration By-law was enacted in 2017, however recent amendments to the Municipal Act allow the Town to regulate site alterations occurring within the general regulatory limits of the local conservation authority, Central Lake Ontario Conservation Authority (CLOCA);
- The ability to regulate site alterations occurring within CLOCA regulated areas is desirable as the Town will have much greater control and oversight of site alterations occurring in these areas, including the ability to regulate and control haul routes from trucking throughout the Town; and

- In response to a recent Ontario Municipal Board decision, the Site Alteration by-law has been updated to clarify that the majority of agricultural site alterations require Site Alteration Permits with the lone exception of the placement and/or removal of topsoil for the purpose of topdressing of existing agricultural or horticultural fields.

3. Background:

The current Site Alteration By-law was enacted in 2017. Due to a recent amendment to the Municipal Act, the Town is now permitted to fully regulate site alterations occurring within CLOCA regulated areas.

Previously, the Town could submit comments to CLOCA about site alterations in their regulated areas and could regulate haul routes used to access site alterations, but could not apply the full provisions of the Town's Site Alteration By-law.

Prior to the amendment to the Municipal Act, municipalities were prohibited from applying site alteration regulations to site alterations regulated under the Conservation Authorities Act.

In addition to the legislative change noted above, there was a recent decision at the Ontario Municipal Board (OMB) where the owner of an agricultural area was granted approval to fill a low-point on his property in order to improve the land for farming. The OMB decision was clear that while the Town has the ability to impose conditions on the import of soil for legitimate agricultural purposes aimed at improving the viability of farm lands, the Town does not have the ability to prohibit the import altogether. In view of this decision, subsections 3.5. and 3.6. of the revised Site Alteration By-law have been updated as follows:

- Subsection 3.5. has been redrafted to make it clear that the only agricultural activity that does not require a Site Alteration Permit is the placement and/or removal of topsoil, provided that the land owner can demonstrate that the placement and/or removal of topsoil is required to improve the agricultural use of the property; and
- Subsection 3.6. has been drafted to clarify that every owner of an agricultural property must obtain a Site Alteration Permit prior to changing the grade of their property (e.g. filling in low-points on land).

4. Discussion:

Under the current Site Alteration By-law the Town has limited ability to regulate fill activities if proposed fill locations are located entirely within CLOCA regulated areas. At present, the Town has no control over the quantity and quality of fill material in CLOCA regulated areas. Further, the Town does not have the ability to regulate haul routes for the trucking of material through the Town's road network. Lastly, the Town cannot evaluate site alterations to assess potential drainage, grading and environmental impacts to the subject property and surrounding properties.

Having the ability to regulate site alterations occurring in CLOCA regulated areas will allow the Town to fully control all aspects of site alteration proposals. The Town will be able to ensure that the site alteration proposals meet quality, quantity and other site alteration criteria, and further, the Town will have control over proposed haul routes through the Town's road network.

There are additional site alteration control options that were considered but not implemented in the revised by-law. Specifically, the Municipality of Clarington has a provision in their Site Alteration By-law which restricts the import of fill material from outside of their municipal boundaries. Staff in the Town's Public Works Department reviewed this provision and indicated that it is unduly restrictive and would likely result in situations where property owners who legitimately require fill would be unable to source sufficient amounts of material from within Whitby.

Additionally, Clarington has a provision in their by-law that limits the exempted import of topsoil on agricultural properties to a maximum of 100 cubic metres (approximately 10 dump trucks). Staff believe that this provision is too restrictive and may adversely affect legitimate agricultural operations. This provision could be challenged at the Normal Farm Practices Protection Board.

5. Financial Considerations:

Not applicable.

6. Communication and Public Engagement:

The changes to the Municipal Act were discussed with CLOCA. The Town and CLOCA will continue to work cooperatively to regulate fill activities in CLOCA regulated areas.

If the recommendations in this report are implemented, staff will update the Town's Site Alteration Guidelines, all relevant application forms, and information on the Town's website to reflect the changes.

7. Input from Departments/Sources:

This report was developed jointly by the Legal and By-law Services Department and Public Works Department.

8. Strategic Priorities:

Not applicable.
